DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

- I. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 13-19, drawn to a polypeptide, classified in class 530, subclass 350, for example.
  - II. Claims 20-21, drawn to an antibody to a polypeptide, classified in class 530, subclass 387.1, for example.
  - III. Claims 24-33, drawn to a method of identifying a compound, classified in class 436, subclass 86, for example.
  - IV. Claims 34-35, drawn to a method of identifying a compound by means of computer generated structures, classified in class 436, subclass 807, for example.
  - V. Claims 36-37, drawn to a method of detecting a polypeptide, classified in class 436, subclass 501, for example.
  - VI. Claims 38-39, drawn to a method of screening for mutations, classified in class 436, subclass 517, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptides of Group I could be used for an entirely different purpose such as in the methods of Group III, rather than for the production of antibodies of Group II.

3. Inventions II and (III-IV) are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not required one for the other in that the antibodies of Group II are not required for the methods of Groups III and IV.

4. Inventions I and (III-IV) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptides of Group I could be used for an entirely different purpose such as for production of antibodies rather than in the methods of Groups III-IV.

5. Inventions III, IV, V and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are directed to methods that recite structurally and functionally distinct elements, have different steps, are not required one for the other, achieve different goals, and are therefore patentably distinct.

6. Inventions (I-II) and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the polypeptides and antibodies of Groups I-II could be used in an entirely different methods, such as in a method of precipitation of polypeptides, rather in the methods of Group V.

7. Inventions (I-II) and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not required one for the other in that the polypeptides and antibodies of Groups I-II are not required for the methods of screening for mutations.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, recognized divergent subject matter and non-coextensive literature searches, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Olga N. Chernyshev whose telephone number is (703) 305-1003. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday 9 AM to 5 PM ET.
